Ir may not be generally known that the new Shipping Consolidation Or- found with the working of the Act in Engdinance repeals something like thirty- land. Such power, if exercised in Hongfive or forty pages of the laws of this kong by trustworthy and discreet officers, Colony, and that no less than seventeen | would meet the difficulty that seems Ordinances ceased to exist when the to have baffled the administration hithnew Ordinance became law. There erto, and forced them to adopt the less was a Commission appointed within the defensible means of employing informers. memory of a few residents to compile a We observe by recent Bombay papers new edition of the Ordinances; and we that a most comprehensive set of rules are prepared to subscribe for a copy of under the C. D. Act will shortly come that desirable publication ;- but both the Commission and the compilation have apparently collapsed. It is evident that, notwithstanding the fact that a presentable edition of the Ordinances in English must be completed before a satisfactory digest of the same can be made for the Chinese community, the desires of His Excellency the Governor do not shape in the direction of reform in this matter. It is impossible to obtain a complete copy of the Ordinances, and the changes that have been made plage, M. A. Colonial Chaplain. Morning during the last ten or fifteen years are reason, however, for calling attention at present to the repealing clause of the new law is this, -that amongst the for- from Cabul to Kandahar. and fourth Sundays at the conclusion of of 1879 is the well-known Junk Orthe Parade Service. [A Voluntary Service | dinance of Sir Richard MacDonnell. is held in the Garrison Theatre at 7.45 This measure (which was No. 6 of 1866) is sufficiently celebrated, inasmuch as it was the first successful attempt made Brigade amount to 1 247 and the survivors here to get the native junks trading to number 1,389. these waters well in hand, and it is admitted that it did more to break the St. Peter's Seamen's Onugon.-Rev. piratical tendencies of the irregular traders than all the guaboats put to- The next American Main may be expected here gether. It was introduced at a, time when piracy was rampant, and when a foreign ship was pirated about once last fourteen years to lead us to suppose response to the Commander in Chief's Sr. Stephen's Mission Church.-Rev. that a return of similar days is impossible. Well, all the provisions neces-

new Ordinance; but it is quite impossible for the Department to carry out the law until it has assumed a workable shape. For instance, the new Ordinance having swept away the old scale of Fees 5 p.m -English Mail leaves for Ports of for junk licenses, permits, anchorage passes, and clearances; and having given power to the Governor in Council to make and publish regulations for licensing, fees, etc., etc.; things come to something very like a dead-lock until these regulations are made and published. The result is that any charge now brought forward for breach of license may or must be dismissed, because the new law has not been made effective; and in point of fact a case was dismissed by the Magistrate recently on that very ground. Forthe Government has placed itself may not become generally known to the natives interested before the error is corrected; but it is not indicative either of carefulness or of foresight on the part of those responsible for the administration of the government. Probably no law on our local statute book contains more provisions which call for greater preparation and deliberation; and yet no measure has been proclaimed as law with so little regard to such considerations.

If the suggestion made elsewhere by a correspondent be correct-and we are 3 p.m.-Meeting of Shareholders of the strongly inclined to believe that it is so, Hongkong and Whampon Dock Co., | seeing that the so-called "piracy" was looked for long before it was actually 3 p.m. -Occidental & Oriental S. S. Co.'s announced -the remarks of our morning contemporary sound strangely out of place. It is pretty plain to any one who knows much about Tonquin affairs that the mandarins are the piratical gentlemen who are most to be feared in the trade with that country. More than one of the cases of so-called piracy which have been noticed in these columns tend to strengthen the opinion that, not only do the officials join with piraticallyinclined natives, but they generally contrive to screen them from justice when the French officials arouse themselves for a moment and endeavour to inflict deserved punishment. It speaks a good deal for the resources of Tonquin that, spite of such difficulties as these and others, the trade in that direction is growing and likely to flourish. Whatever may be done to improve matterswhether by reform within or pressure from without—the action must in some way reach the petty officials, else trade there will never attain to its legitimate expansion. The so-called "pirates" are not far to seek.

> THERE is one point in the C. D. O. discussion which demands some consideration. It is known that the system of informers—which is presumably the most "revolting" feature of the Acthas been put an end to by the present Governor. This must be what Lord Kimberley alluded to when he said that the system of "inspection" had been stopped some time ago. The result of doing away with informers, while the Registrar General is not permitted to exercise any other test wherewith to check unlicensed prostitution, is, that the latter evil is becoming alarmingly prevalent. It is exceedingly strange that so much objection should be taken to the "revolting" modes by which an absolutely necessary law of sanitation is to be enforced when the subjects treated are Chinese, while measures of a much more sweeping nature are applied to women in the garrison towns and naval stations at Home. By the Home Act, an information laid on oath before a Justice by a Superintendent of Police, or an Inspector, that he "has good cause to believe that a woman therein named is a common prostitute," is sufficent for an order of periodical examination. Clearly this power is one which has to be exercised with the greatest care and discretion, though it must be said that little fault can be into force there. Surely Hongkong is not the only British port in the world where a "revolting" evil has to be combated by the least " revolting " means.

An inquest was held this afternoon (7th) on the body of a prisoner Yeung Achik, who died suddenly in the gaol, at 10.20 this morning. Deceased was under a sentence of five years' penal servitude, for larceny in a dwelling house, &c. He had one previous which he was centenced in January 1878. He was released on free pardon in May 1879, and returned again to gaol under the sentence of five years in June 1879, being only 16 or 17 days out of prison before his reconviction. During the time he had been in gaol he had conducted himself fairly well, At the inquest Dr Ayres, Colonial Surgeon, gave evidence to the effect that the prisoner had died of organic disease of the heart, and gave evidence to the effect that the prisoner was admitted to gaol under sentence of five years' penal servitude on the 18th June 1879 for larceny in a dwelling house and previous conviction. Owing to his returning to gaol so quickly after his release on free pardon, he was placed in separate conimprisonment at string-making and oakumpicking. Since his release from separate confinement he has only been employed on light work. A verdict was returned of "Death from Natural Causes."

It is preposterous to think that the Mayounc, a large and fast steamer, well-armed and repaired here a short time since at very great expense, could not be a match for a dozen jusks! How is it that the numerous coast steamers running between this and the Hainan and Touquin ports are never molested by pirates ?

It appears that during the rehearsals of "The Pirates of Penzance" one of the female chorus singers was observed by Mr Gilbert to be weeping bitterly, and refusing to be comforted by her companions. Feeling interested, he saked her the cause of her grief, but she rigidly refused to disclose it. All that he could learn from her was that the costumier of the theatre had insulted her gravely. "But what did she say to you?" persisted Gilbert, "Oh! I never will repeat it," was the reply that came through the tears that almost choked her. "I will not allow any of my people to be insulted here," said Mr Gilbert, "and it you will tell me what was said I will see that amends are made." After considerable besitation, the girl sobbed: "Well, gir, she-she-told me I was no better than ! should be!" "But you are, aren't you?" enquired Gilbert, with the most ayn pathetic earnestness.

THE UNITED STATES CONSULAR SERVICE.

(American Exporter.) The recent discussions in Congress upon the Consular and Diplomatic Bill have shown that the legislators of the country are beginning to appreciate our Consular Corps at its true value. In the past, when Consular positions were doled out as rewards for primaries packed or conventions engineered, and when the American Consul went abroad as a reward for political fealty more than for commerical interests, and when he held his place merely as long as it suited his district political directors, our Consular Corps filled the small economics incident to their positions with all the ability and usefulness demanded of them by the authorities. They took possession their offices, hoisted the American flag, received our national vessels, signed ships' papers, discharged seamen and made all the money they legitimately could. This was their whole duty; for which they were paid more liberally, let us say, than our present efficient corps. Let us be understood: The American Consul then, as now, did his duty.

and was wholly the fault of the Govern-But since Secretary Evarts has defined a broader field of duty for our Consul; making him the commercial agent of the United States in his district; appointing and promoting him just as his ability and usefulness justifies; removing him from the sphere of politics and beyond the control of the primary kings and convention engineers; giving him a fixity of tenure in office and basing that fixity on his worth as a commercial agent-since then, the American Consul has risen above the old surroundings and is to-day, without any exception, the most active, energetic and useful Consul in the world.

That duty was limited to simple routine,

Congress begins to appreciate this, but does not yet appreciate the importance of strengthening the hands of the Secretary of State to the fullest extent in behalf of our foreign com-We should have more Consuls, and they should be better paid than they are at present. Congress should not send the plummet of their appreciation down into this commercial sea and judge of its results by the depth of the direct profits or monetary loss, millions ultimately result from Consular direction and effort, to the general foreign trade of the country, the present expenditure of a few thousand dollars is not lost. It may come out of the treasury, but it returns to the country a hundred-fold; it is taken and returned to the people. While we are glad that our Consular Corps has risen in public esteem beyond the petty slings of newspapers and being the annual butt of Congressional ridicule, we are not glad that it has been done at the expense of our diplomatic Corps. If the former has become more useful than the latter, it is because its field of usefulness has been enlarged.

Happily for mankind, the necessity for diplomacy is growing less year by year. Commerce is taking its place, simply because the progress of the age tends to simplification and fair business dealing. Diplomacy is tortuous and subtle, forever gliding into inextricable mazes which, in the end, require the sword to make straight. The more diplomacy the more war, and vice versa. Europe, being still in the meshes of war, is the home of diplomacy. The United States, having burst the cuirass and laid by the sword, and "gone into business"-at peace with all nations-not even having single snarl for diplomacy to unsnarlis the first nation to find out that, as the world progresses, diplomacy becomes proportionately out of proportion. It is not surprising, therefore, that our democratic legislators should, while commending our Consular Corps, set up our diplomatic corps as the last remnant of ancient usage, as a thing which more properly belongs to the days of buckles and knee-breeches, powdered wigs, and the "distinguished consideration" snuff-boxes, than to these plain, honest, commercial days.

Still, that consideration which is due to the older nations demands of the United States diplomatic representation at their courts, and the expense is a mere bagatelle. If our Ministers are laughed at because they are mere ornaments of courts, it should be borne in mind that they are so because they have nothing to do. If our Congress thinks the field of diplomacy is too confined, it can very easily throw down the commercial barriers, and invite our Ministers, charges and secretaries of Legation to assist our Consuls in spreading American trade in the several countries. But to send representatives abroad, and then to ridicule them in Congress, is discreditable to the nation that sends them and discourteous to our Ministers.

We merely say these things en passant, for we have nothing to do with the diplomatic Corps-save on rare occasion when some of them interest themselves in American trade abroad. say-without any disrespect to the able gentlemen who represent the States in the several countries—that the days of diplomacy are gone, and the days of commerce are dawning, and we are glad of it. It means that the Consul is greater than the Minister, because the former is the missionary of peaceful industry, while the latter is but the avant courier of discord and war. He makes the sword inevitable, and when the nations get tired of killing he comes in and buries the dead with "distinguished consideration."

Our Consuls, on the other hand, are the true representatives of American civilisation. They go abroad in the interest of trade and commerce, pointing out the ways by which our producers and manufacturers can reach the markets of the world, and pointing out to that world the ways by which it can reach the markets of the United States. There is, therefore, direct sympathy between our Consuls and every producer, manufacturer and consumer in the United States, and the consumers and producers of all other lands. Every ship that sails from our shores with manufactures and products represents | in that city 60,000 Chinamen, and the industry, happiness and civilisation about the same number in various other of our country, and every ship which parts of the country. The contract

The mere fact that some foreign gentleman-for his own accommodation and for ours, to a certain extent-offers to act as our agent without salary, hoists our flag and wins that trade advantage which his official position lends him, while at the same time he neither understands our trade nor our language, can scarcely be of much advantage to the United States. Indeed, except in cases where no other resource is left, it would be better if the American Consuls and agents were al paid living salaries and prohibited from ; engaging in trade. The Consular position gives a short of quasi-official colouring to his husiness, gives him an advantuge over other business men, and naturally excites a feeling of acrimony among | other men engaged in like business. We know that this is the feeling of nine out of ten of our Consuls, and that they feel they could do more generous and independent work for their country's commerce as Consuls than when the position is mixed up with trade. What we want in order to render our Consular service of the highest possible utility to our commerce, is that, along with ability and fixity of tenure of office, they shall be paid salary enough to render them free from the traininels of business, so that they can devote all their time and energies to the speading of American trade, and find their reward in the thanks of their Government, surety of office and promotion, and salary commensurate to their positions.

Let Congress so revise our Consular regulations as to embrace these points, then do something for American shippers, and the merchants, exporters and manufacturers of the United States will take care of the rest.

ARRIVAL OF THE CHINESE

MINISTER IN NEW YORK. His Excellency Chen Lan-pin, the Senior Minister from China to United States, arrived at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on the 6th June, and was to be joined there by Mr Yung Wing, the Junior Minister, who was at Hartford, Conn. Two nephews and several Englishmen and Spaniards, who are attached to the Eurbassy, accompany the Minister from England. They all came by way of Liverpool, in the City of Berlin, and are at present resting from the effects of a had passage over the ocean. Mr D. W. Bartlett, Secretary of the Chinese Legation at Washington, and Tsai Sih-yung, received the Minister and his suite on their landing, and accompanied them to the hotel. The Minister is a stately, dignified gentleman about seventy years of age. He wears the ordinary costume of his country, with the appropriate embellishments of his rank. He has white hair, a long. thin, white beard, and moves with the ease, grace and self-possession of a courtly and distinguished man. He also has the great natural advantage of most winning manners. Although he has spent some time in America he speaks no English, but he is said to possess a thorough knowledge of the country and to have an intense admiration for Yankee institutions. Mr Bartlett come to the assistance, of the Herald reporter in the endeavour to interview the Minister. and said for him that they would probably remain in town a few days and then go on to Washington to pay their respects to the Secretary of State.

8. Parcels will as's general rule be forwarded by Private Ship, not by Contract Mail Packet. The Post Office reserves the right of selecting the opportunity for transmission, and of delaying delivery in case the number of parcels is such as to retard other correspondence. No responsibility. is accepted with regard to any parcel, but the system of Registration will secure the senders against any but a very remote probability of loss.

4. The public are cautioned not to confound those facilities with a Parcel Post to Europe, &c., which does not exist,

Most countries to which Hongkong forwards Correspondence having joined the General Postal Union or being probable about to do so, it is necessary that the following rules be strictly observed.

1. No Letier or Packet, whether to be registered or u registered, can be received for Postage if it contains gold or silver money jewels, precious articles, or apything that Danish, French, Netherlands, Portuguese as a general rule, is liable to Customs

2. This Regulation prohibits the sending of Patterns of dutiable articles, unless the quantity sent be se small as to make the sample of no value.

3. The limits of weight allowed are a follows :---Books and Papers-to British Offic

5 lbs. ; to the Continent, &c., 4 lbs Patterns-to British Offices 5 lbs. if with out intrinsic value; to the Continent &c., 8 cz.

Indemnity for the Loss of a Registered Lette The Post Office is not legally responsible for the safe delivery of Registered correpondence, but henceforth it will be pr pared to make good the contents of such correspondence lost while passing throng the Post, to the extent of $10, in certain cases, provided :-

1. That the sender duly observed all th conditions of Registration require. 2. That the letter was securely enclose in a reasonably strong envelope.

3. That application was made to Postmaster General of Hengkong mediately the loss was discovered, envelope being invariably forwarded wi such application unless it also is lost.

4. That the Postmaster General is sat fied that the loss occurred whilst the corre pondence was in the custody of the Britis Postal administration in China, that it w not caused by any fault on the part of t sender, by destruction by fire, or shipwred nor by the disho esty or negligence of a person not in the employment of t Hongkong Post Office.

5. No compensation can be paid for me damage to fragile articles such as portrai watches, handsomely bound books, & which reach their destination, although a broken or deteriorated condition.

Money Order Begulations. 1.-Money Orders are exchanged with the United Kingdom, New South Wales,

Australia, and (except at Shanghai) with the Japanese Empire. Hongkong also issues orders on Shanghai, and vice versa. 2.—Small sums may be remitted between the other Ports by means of Postage Stamps, subject to a charge of one per cent, for cashing them. 3.—Many Money Orders are supplied to residents at the smaller Ports in this way. An application for an order is filled up, and is enclosed with a stamped, directed, and unsealed envelope to the Postmaster at the nearest issuing office. The application must be accompanied with the full amount (including commission) in cheque, postage stamps, or other equivalent of cash, and a little margin should be left for variations of exchange. The Postmaster issues the order, sends it on in the envelope, and returns the change, if any, by first opportunity, with a receipt for the letter, if it were to be registered, as it always should be. Care should be taken to send these applications in time, as the Money Order

tures of the mails.

4.-No order must exceed £10, or $60 or include any fraction of a penny, nor will more than two such orders be issued to the same person, in favour of the same payee, by the same mail. Orders will be drawn at the current rate of the day! and paid at the rate of the day when the advice wrrived. The commission is as follows :-

Orders on the United Kingdom. Up to £2..... 18 cents. Local and Intercolonial Orders: Up to $25 or £5......25 cents. $50 or £10 50 ...

It can then be paid only through a Bank, and may afterwards be Allgemeinereitung. specially crossed to any Bank. 7 .- No order can be paid till the Payee Cosmon. has signed it in the proper place. An order our be transferred to another office on payment of an additional commission In case of loss of an order, necessity for stopping payment, or the like, application exhibited or stated to the Postmaster should be made to the nearest Money Order Office for instructions. 8 -If the order be not presented within six months an additional commission will be charged; if not within twelve months, the money will be forfeited. When the order is once paid no further claim can be entertained. 9. - No order can be paid until the advice relative to it has been received.

Made out on a printed form which is supplied

Local Orders on Shanghal are drawn at 2 per cent, premium in all cases. A fixed dolfor rate for drawing on the United Kingdone is in force at Shanghai.

PATTERNS.—Some difficulty is experienced in obtaining a general understanding of what is a Pattern. It is a bond fide sample of goods which the sender has for sale, or of goods which he wishes to order. It is to consist of the smallest possible quantity compatible with shewing what the goods are, and must have no intrinsic value.

To provide means of remitting small sums of money to or from this Colony and between the Ports of China, the Postmasters and Agents are allowed (but not required) to purchase Hongkong Postage Stamps from foreign residents.

Between Hongkong and Yokohama, however, in either direction, Money-Orders The Stamps tendered for sale must not exceed $50 in value, must be perfectly is dangerous to the Mails, or likely to be- clean, in good condition, and in strips of at least two, as no separate Stamps will be purchased. They must be presented personally or accompanied by a note. The Postmaster or Agent may postpone purchasing if his public funds in hand are not sufficient, and he will refuse to purchase in any case which appears doubtful or suspicious. He is allowed to charge a Commission of one per cent on all Stamps purchased.

THE CHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on Ohina and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

THE CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance. The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Por-tuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resume in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinose matters. Great is also paid to the Review attention department.

Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concorning the matter in band. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two easays were sent in to compete for the beat paper on the advantages of Christlanity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Postry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Keview. Address China Review, Hongkong. - Northern Christian Advocate (U.S.) Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :- " This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese, scholarship is now assidnously cultivated. and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to b hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese aubjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its prede-cessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will

MERCHANT STAAMBRE.

This paper is now issued every day. The subscription is fixed at Four Dollars per annum delivered in Hongkong, or Seven Dollars Fifty Cents including postage to Coast ports. It is the first Chinese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the guarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business andlegal footing. The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,-Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Saigon, and other places frequented by the Chinese, - consider themselves in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 4,000 copies. The advantages offered to adver- Kin tisers are therefore unusually great, and Kiu the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of

The field open to a paper of this descrip Tune tion—conducted by native efforts, but Whit progressive and anti-obstructive in tone—Your in almost limitless. It on the one hand Chinese belief and Interest while on the other deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners.

Like English journals it contains Editorials—with Local, Shipping, and Commercial Nows and Advertisements.
